

Policy on Military Experience

Texas Southern University has been recognized as a military friendly Institution and accepts military credit and experience for various aspects of the undergraduate program. The College of Education; however, does not accept military service for credit in the Educator Preparation Program.